On underconsumption theory

We are grateful to Michael Roberts' blog for making us aware of:

> "…one of the earliest and best denials that underconsumption is Marxian economic theory, see this article by John Weeks back in 1982."

Clarifying these issues is an essential part of the process of rebuilding the international working class movement.

From the archive: An Introduction to Marxist Philosophy

> We take pleasure in reproducing the first instalment of "An Introduction to Marxist Philosophy" by the late Peter Jefferies (Geoff Pilling). Geoff was a University lecturer and expert on the history of political economy but also a Trotskyist revolutionary and active fighter for the Fourth International. Geoff would have been greatly heartened by the developments taking place in Southern Africa and elsewhere and would have wanted to contribute to the building of the workers movement there.

The text is taken from the pamphlet of the same name published by Keep Left, London, January 1975 and comprises a series of articles that first appeared in Keep Left the weekly paper the Young Socialists (A British Trotskyist organisation – Ed.), Sept. 29, Oct. 6, Oct. 13, Oct. 20, Oct. 27, Nov. 10, Nov.17, Nov.24, Dec. 1, Dec. 8, Dec. 15, 1973. (Corrections to the original appear in [ ] Editor)

Complete and corrected version here:https://workersinternational.info/3458-2/